

BUSINESS

Bell Atlantic lost a legal round when a judge refused to throw out a class action suit accusing the company of systematically discriminating since 1983 against black employees, even though they worked for subsidiaries.